Why Us?

Quality Control Processes

- Thorough testing of raw materials is conducted during the delivery process.
- All supplied raw materials are accompanied by a test report.
- High precision machinery such as SIKORA center view, laser OD controllers, spark testers, encoders, and tension control systems are utilized for inprocess control.
- Our highly skilled quality control engineers perform in-process material testing using both manual and automated testing equipment.
- Visual inspection is performed on each cable roll to identify physical manufacturing defects.
- Manufactured cables undergo testing by our laboratory technicians using multiple devices including Fluke Network's cable analyzer.
- A pre-delivery inspection is undertaken by our quality team to mitigate the potential for errors.

Mass Production Capabilities

- Our high-tech machinery ensures precision and consistency in cable production.
- Our automated material handling, cutting, stripping, coiling, testing and packaging processes minimize manual intervention, reduce errors, and enhance overall productivity.
- We have a team of skilled technicians, engineers, and quality control professionals that ensures smooth operations and consistent product quality.

With a customer base of over 200 clients worldwide, Wirelux Cables has rapidly emerged as a leading supplier of Structured Cabling solutions and Surveillance Cables. We handle projects of all sizes, catering to the diverse needs of our customers.

Wirelux Cables is committed to providing a broad range of services while ensuring friendly customer care at affordable prices.

This dedication has earned us the reputation of being the fastest growing company in the Networking and Surveillance cable business in India.
